

Council rejects Ride for Sight's return

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Ride for Sight isn't returning to Minden next summer.

Last Thursday council decided, in a split vote, not to accept the weekend event back to the village after hearing presentations from members of the public both for and against the Ride's return.

Ride for Sight committee chairman Syd Collier attended the morning meeting to formally request that Minden once again play host to the more than 5,000 motorcycle riders.

In his presentation Collier said that after Dysart council withdrew their offer to host the event a number of people, including the Chamber of Commerce contacted him about bringing the Ride back to Minden.

Collier said with the availability of the arena no longer in doubt and the possibility of the using private property near the fairgrounds, there would be enough space to host the event.

Last year council unanimously approved the ride's return but it turned out that Ride organizers were also investigating the possibility of moving the

Fire destroys Minden home

The loss was estimated at $85,000 in a fire which destroyed the home of Barry Martin Friday. Firefighters from both Stanhope and Minden departments responded to the alarm in mid-afternoon. The house, located at the intersection of Highway 118 and the Queen's Line, was destroyed in the blaze. According to Stanhope fire chief Bob Nangle, the cause of the blaze is undetermined.

Minden's claim that arena frame suffers corrosion is under dispute

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The Minden arena is not suffering from corrosion as the township claims, says the architect who designed the structure.

Ron Harrison, along with the contractor who built the arena, is being sued by Minden for the cost of the repairs now underway.

The municipality claims that calcium placed in the mortar during construction has eroded the steel girders that make up the arena's frame.

Calcium would be added to the mortar to prevent it from freezing, although the practice is illegal under the Ontario Building Code.

Harrison said he recently inspected the work being done at the arena and found no evidence of the corroded steel. "Someone made a hasty decision when they decided to sue," said Harrison.

Harrison disputes the township's claim that calcium was used in the construction of the arena and says tests are being carried out on material he removed from

Report from consultants:

Dysart embankment caused more severe flooding

by Susan Grober

A township-built embankment resulted in more severe damage during the May 23 flood of Haliburton village, say consultants Totten Sims Hubicki.

Engineer Fred Clayton told The Times that, because the embankment was present, there was a greater volume of water flooding through the town when the Moss Pond beaver dam broke last May.

"The embankment was higher than the beaver dam, so the depth of water going through the town was greater," Clayton said, adding that velocity of the water would have also been affected, but he can't say how much.

The fill embankment which extended

Moss Road was constructed downstream in 1986 to act as a buffer in case the beaver dam broke. When the dam did give way, water crashed through the embankment, flooding the village and causing damages of houses and businesses starting at an estimated one million dollars.

Dysart Reeve Bill Davis says he's anxious to see the matter of restitution settled. "We'd like to do anything in our power to speed up the process. If there is liability and payment, get on with it. Our concerns lie with the ratepayers."

According to a letter from Clayton to R. Ian Pepper Insurance Adjusters, a hydraulic analysis was performed to

Truck thieves joy-ride on high school's football field

Two trucks stolen from Elstone Motors were used to tear up a football field at the Haliburton high school, according to Minden OPP.

A 1989 Dodge Dakota, a 1991 Dodge pick-up, and a fuel tank containing five gallons of gas were stolen from the Haliburton Chrysler dealer on the evening of October 10, says Constable Mike Maybee.

Both vehicles were recovered in very damaged condition in the Haliburton area last Thursday. And police feel this break and enter is connected with three other incidents.

Gas and cigarettes were stolen from Duchene Shell in West Guilford, cigarettes were stolen from Haliburton Marine, and a field hockey net at the high school's football field was driven over and damaged, says Maybee.

One truck was recovered at the parking lot of Sir Sandford Fleming school, and the other on Boughner Road, he says.

Merv Elstone says one of the trucks belonged to a customer, and the other was brand new. Both were recovered in bad shape. "I don't know whether it will be written off or not, but they were smashed up pretty bad."

He says it would be more understandable if the vehicles were just stolen. "But to steal one just to smash it up—I can't understand what kind of a person would do that sort of thing."

The matter is now under investigation, and police have no suspects.

Hospital gets a helping hand

Last Thursday the Minden Lioness Club presented a $600.66 cheque raised through its September Bedpan Blitz to the Minden Hospital Equipment Fund, and a $225.50 cheque raised through an afghan draw for a hospital building fund. In attendance were, from left, George Moulton, Lorna Hicks, Maureen Boeckstyn, hospital administrator Jean Anderson, Lioness president Janet Readman, and Edna Moulton.

Embankment originally constructed as safety measure determine water levels and discharges through the village downstream of the embankment.

Calculations were carried out for two cases: failure of the Moss Road embankment, and failure of the beaver dam assuming the embankment was never constructed.

In case one, the water level prior to failure of the embankment was at a 98.7 metre elevation, in accordance with surveyed high water marks. The maximum water depth through the reach was 2.6 metres.

In case two, water level before failure of the dam would have been 96.5 metres, which was the normal water level behind the beaver dam. Here the water levels range from 1.37 metres to 1.6 metres through the reach.

"There was a whole metre elevation difference," said Clayton.

Reeve Davis says he's not surprised to learn the embankment created worse flooding. "I think we all knew that. You wouldn't have to have an engineer to tell you that."

And Davis doesn't know what this finding will mean to the municipality. "It's basically out of our hands. It's in the hands of the lawyer, it's in the hands of (our insurer), and it's in the hands of the adjusters. We're at arm's length."

At the present time, the insurer representing the municipality and the insurer's lawyer are reviewing this letter, which they only received last Thursday.

Maureen Cowan of Frank Cowan Company, representing Dysart, can't say how many insurance claims have been filed. "Some have been submitted, some have not been submitted, and not all have been confirmed," she says. "I'm not sure if some are yet to be submitted, but I suppose that's possible."

The flood caused water to rush over Park Street, washed away part of Pine Street, pushed over to Maple Street and out into Head Lake.

Councillor and former reeve Murray Fearrey stresses that the embankment wasn't constructed to act as a dam.

"It was constructed as a roadway with a culvert in to be a buffer in case the dam at Moss Pond let go. And in fact it obviously would have done that job if the culvert would have been kept clean and the beavers hadn't blocked it up."

He says the embankment was a safety measure initiated by Victoria Street school parents and agreed to by council.

Cottager has development concerns

Development concerns have been expressed in a letter to Dysart council from the president of the association of Drag Lake cottagers.

Al Ferguson is concerned that increased development in the Drag Lake area will have add an impact of pollution on "already fragile fisheries," increase noise levels, increase pressure on wildlife, and compromise water safety with more boaters.

He's "opposed to continual multiple developments" which would bring an influx of people to the lake.

In discussing these concerns at last Tuesday's council meeting, Reeve Bill Davis said these concerns are being considered through Dysart's Official Plan update.

"I think what he's asking of us, we're fairly well addressing," said Davis.

"Drag Lake has a lot of capacity," Councillor Bob Nicholl pointed out.

"It's got capacity, but it doesn't have the land," said Councillor John Parish.

Councillor Murray Fearrey said noted that Ferguson isn't speaking out against all development along the lake. "He's just opposed to major development."

Corrosion problem "a non-entity"

"The corrosion problem is a non-entity, it isn't there," said Harrison. The arena was built during the months of August, September and October says Harrison so there would be no reason for calcium to be in the mortar in the first place.

Harrison says he doesn't understand why the municipality continued to tear down the arena walls if the beams were not corroded.

When he came to Minden to inspect the work being done on the arena, Harrison says he was denied access to the site by the municipality and most of the work was covered up.

But he says he photographed the north side of the building and recovered metal rods that were removed from the arena because they were supposedly erroded.

Harrison said he's repaired two other arenas that experienced the same problem as Minden's. "I know what the problem is, and it's not what they're alledging." In another 10 years, Harrison says the township will probably be involved in another law suit over the arena.

Robert McEwen and Associates is the engineering company that first reported the corrosion damage to the municipality and has been involved in the repair efforts.

Company spokesman Dave Billow said the work done so far involves removing and replacing the chlorinated masonry and replacing door frames in the outer walls.

He said the beams that make up the arena are of fairly heavy structure and did not suffer much corrosion damage. He said the girders were sanded and refinished but not replaced or otherwise repaired.

Dysart reeve berated for taping meeting

by Susan Grober

A Dysart councillor has berated the reeve for using a tape recorder during a recent committee meeting.

In a prepared statement at last Tuesday's council meeting, Councillor Bob Nicholls said Bill Davis invaded his privacy by "secretly" taping a roads committee meeting.

Although Davis told Councillor Murray Fearrey and Clerk Donna McCallum that he would be taping the meeting, Nicholls and Roads Superintendent Jim Taylor arrived late and were not informed.

The meeting was held in McCallum's office, and the tape-recorder was sitting on a shelf because there was no room on the desk, Davis says.

Nicholls called use of the tape recorder without his knowledge unethical. "I won't stand for that," he said.

"Honesty is the best policy and the only policy," he added. "Dishonesty only brings you hardship and grief."

"I apologize, but not for the reason," Davis told Nicholls, adding that he was using the tape recorder as a reference tool.

"We had a heavy agenda, and I wanted to keep track of everything," Davis said he often uses the tape recorder to make notes to himself when a constituent phones with a problem.

Councillor Dorothy Baker questioned Davis whether he informs people before taping them, and Davis said he simply forgot to tell Nicholls and Taylor.

"There was no hidden agenda," he explained. "Quite honestly, it was bad judgement on my part, and I won't do it again."

"I should hope not," said Baker.

Still, Davis took exception to part of Nicholls' statement, and asked if his honesty was being questioned. Nicholls said those comments were just a generalization, and that he wasn't accusing Davis of being dishonest.

Later, Davis told The Times he has a problem with how Nicholls' comments on honesty have been interpreted.

"I'm really upset about this dishonesty and trust thing," said Davis. "What did that have to do with it?"

"I admit it was an error in judgement. It's the only time I've ever used (the tape recorder) in a meeting."

Davis says after the roads meeting he forgot the machine in McCallum's office and left for another meeting. "It wasn't a Dick Tracy type of thing. (The tape recorder) was on a shelf and it ran throughout the meeting. I forgot all about it."

Davis learned of Nicholls' complaints on the matter from another councillor, and says he then phoned Nicholls and erased the tape.

Contrary to a recent report, Davis stresses the tape recorder was not in his pocket, and wasn't used at the council table. "Now that I've seen the interpretation of some people, I must respond... and now, more than ever, I'm in favour of open meetings."

Local Children's Aid desperate for funding

Without emergency provincial funding, the Kawartha-Haliburton Children's Aid Society (CAS) will be effectively bankrupt at the end of this month.

CAS Director Bob Penney says the society has projected a deficit of $300,000 to $400,000 this year and unless the province steps in it will run out of money at the end of October.

Over the last several years the CAS has run up an accumulated deficit that exceeds $1 million, said Penney.

To this point the society has been able to maintain operations because the province has been providing funds above the approved budget.

Because of the financial crisis, Penney says he expects a review of the society's operations by the ministry. The Kawartha-Haliburton CAS is not alone in its budget woes. Penney says at least half of the Children's Aid Societies in the province are carrying large deficits.

He expects the ministry will come through will at least a portion of the money the society needs to continue operation but that will still leave a large deficit.

The reasons for the society's shortfall are an increase in caseloads and a $220,000 accounting error that resulted in the resignation of the society's accountant.

But the root of the problem is chronic underfunding, said Penney.

"Our board doesn't feel they're doing anything they shouldn't be doing," said Penney. "But the province hasn't come up with the dollars."

The CAS serves clients in Haliburton, Peterborough and Victoria counties who contribute 20 per cent of the society's approved budget.

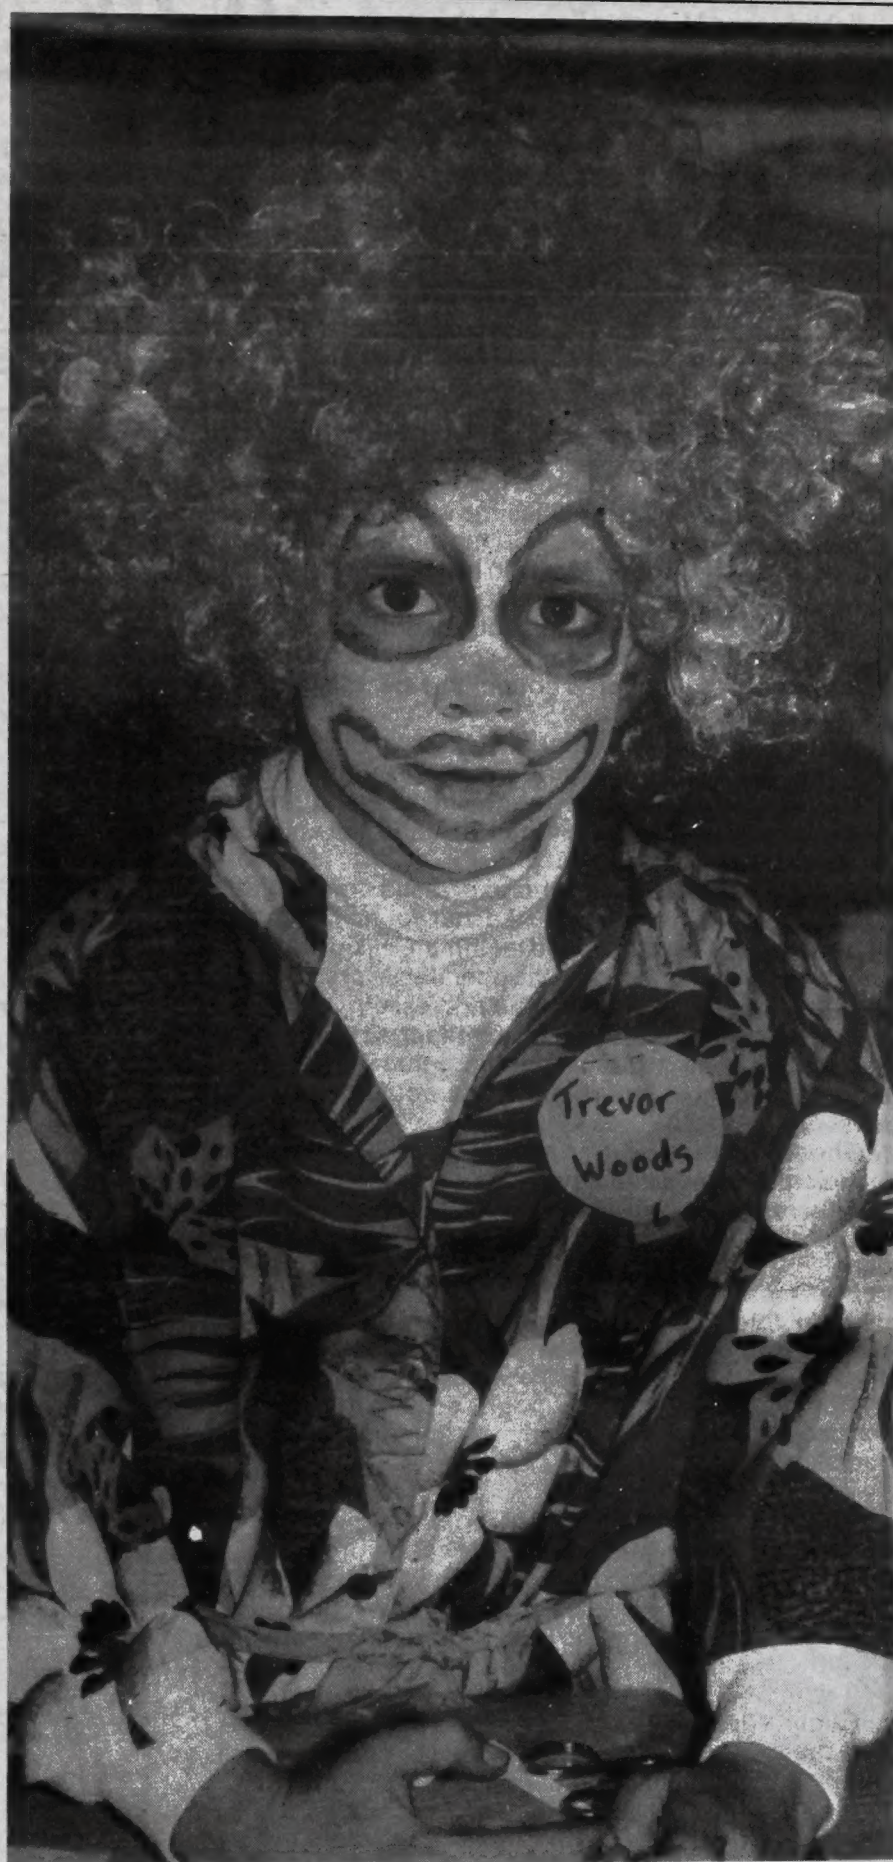

The ever-increasing costs of funding the CAS has prompted some Haliburton County politicians to investigate the possibility of Haliburton operating its own child welfare service.

Cardiff Reeve Maurice Bradley serves as Haliburton County's representative on the Kawartha-Haliburton CAS. He says the county has submitted a draft proposal to the province dealing with the possibility of Haliburton splitting ranks with the CAS.

Bradley says it seems the proposal is being favourably considered by the province but no official response has been received.

Because so much of the demand for CAS services originates in Peterborough and Victoria Counties, Bradley says Haliburton is financially supporting the CAS while getting little in return.

The next step, said Bradley, is to figure out how much it would cost Haliburton County to provide child welfare services on their own and compare that to the amount being spent on the CAS.

The dreaded Gypsy moth strikes Drag Lake area

by Susan Grober

The Gypsy moth has hit the Drag Lake area, says Graham Howze, the county's co-ordinator for controlling this voracious little beast.

To control this growing problem, Dysart will be included in next spring's aerial spray program, said Howze, who is also the county's waste management co-ordinator, at last Tuesday's council meeting.

Howze also talked about another caterpillar called the saddled prominent which has appeared around Glebe Park. Unlike the Gypsy moth, this bug is a natural species with natural predators, and won't be sprayed.

The Gypsy moth caterpillar spray program focuses on private property, rather than Crown land, and utilizes a natural bacteria called Bt.

In the past year, only properties in the Gull Lake area in Lutterworth Township were sprayed. Still, although the Gypsy moth is spreading, Howze says it shouldn't go too far into the colder, northern regions.

"I believe we're reaching the northern limits now," he told council. "If you don't want a Gypsy moth problem, pray for -30 degree weather."

For better or for worse, Minden council has decided not to invite Ride for Sight back to Minden next summer.

Some residents will applaud the decision, grateful they won't have to deal with the traffic, noise, vandalism and inconvenience that accompanies the event.

Others will be highly critical of the move, pointing to the hundreds of thousands of dollars in lost business that will be sorely missed during the economic slowdown.

And while the issue is being hotly debated in stores and homes throughout the community, one question remains to be answered: Why did three councillors decide to turn the Ride away?

Of the 10 people who spoke at the council meeting, six openly supported the Ride's return, representing business owners, service clubs and average citizens, and the event was also endorsed by the Minden BIA and the Haliburton County Chamber of Commerce.

Even those individuals who expressed concern about the Ride for Sight, never suggested that council should turn the event away. They presented legitimate misgivings about the manner in which the Ride has operated in previous years and asked that those problems be addressed.

It seemed like a negotiated settlement was possible when council drafted a list of conditions that Ride organizers would have to meet before the event would be allowed to return.

The conditions, including a security bond, no expenditure of municipal money and a head tax on participants, would not in themselves solve all the problems connected with the Ride but they were a positive first step in making the event work.

Even more encouraging was the fact that Ride committee chairman Syd Collier accepted some of the conditions outright and expressed a willingness to negotiate the others.

But despite the public support, despite the conditions and despite the room for negotiation three municipal councillors turned the event away.

Why?

We would like to think it's not too late to give the issue a fair and open hearing. It's unlikely the Ride organizers will quickly find another venue and possibly, if enough people speak out, council can be convinced to try and negotiate an agreement that will allow the Ride to come to Minden under conditions that will satisfy a majority of residents.

It won't be easy. After making a difficult decision on such a controversial issue, council will resist any efforts to revive the issue and it will take strong support from clear a majority of citizens to bring the issue back to the table.

It's possible that an agreement that will satisfy both residents and organizers can't be reached, but we'll never know unless we try.

If you agree that the Ride for Sight is worth fighting for and worth the effort of one last try, let council know. Write, phone, start a petition, corner them in the streets, but let's get the message across that we believe in Minden and we believe the Ride for Sight can be a positive, beneficial event.

This is our last chance.

If cockroaches don't take over the world...

Nobody asked, but if I had to name the most overrated critter on earth, I'd nominate the cockroach. Some folks go into a life-threatening coma when they discover cockroaches in their bathroom. What's the big deal? Cockroaches are tiny, they don't bark, scratch the furniture or bite the mailman. Cockroaches take care of their own food and exercise requirements, don't carry fleas and best of all, if your pet cockroach dies, who cares? There'll be thirty million replacements in the morning.

That's the scary factor with cockroaches of course — their incredible fertility. Cockroaches

Black 'n White

by Arthur Black

make babies the way politicians make promises. They multiply so fast they make mink look like monks.

Which turns cockroaches into a very valuable commodity for newspaper editors. Any time there's a slow news day, your typical editor knows how to plug that ugly white cavity between the supermarket ad and the help wanted column. He or she just reaches for the Roach File and drags out a story detailing how the lowly cockroach, tougher than a leopard tank, more hyperactive than a lawyer's greed gland, able to leap tall, half-eaten peanut butter sandwiches in a single bound....

Is about to knock us all off our perch.

Stacked senate spells troubled times

Editor:

As you are aware by now our Prime Minister has stacked the Senate against the will of the people, he now has 54 Senators to the people's 51, but there are also 6 independent Senators they are, Senator Hartland Molson, Senator Daniel Lang, Senator P.M. Pitfield, Senator Douglas Everett, Senator Stan Waters and Senator Edward Lawson, in their hands lie the fate of fair taxation and democracy as we know it today.

These are indeed troubled times for Canada when the Prime Minister refuses to listen to 80 per cent of the people, he has told us in no uncertain terms that he has the mandate to do whatever he wants, he will ram through the G.S.T. and the people will serve him and his conservative party.

We have to show this poor excuse for a Prime Minister that this is not Nazi Germany or Communist Russia.

When we elect a Prime Minister, we give that person one right and one right only and that is the right to serve the people of this nation, whatever other rights Brian Mulroney thinks he has, at best they are insignificant when compared with the democratic rights of the people, you see the rights of the people are written in blood.

Over 100,000 young Canadians have fought and died for the rights that you and I now have, for us to let Brian Mulroney destroy what so many have given their lives to protect without a fight, would be the greatest insult we could bestow upon our veterans and our war dead, we must never forget these words ... "if you break faith with us who die we shall not sleep..."

The six independent Senators can stop the G.S.T., but you have to write to them and let them know of your concern, you are a Canadian, and you will make a difference, please write to them NOW. Their address is The Senate of Canada, Ottawa, Ont. K1A 0A4 (no postage required).

If you do not like writing then send them this letter, get all your family and friends and everyone who is against this tax to write, if we ignore these six Senators we will deserve the G.S.T. and the dictatorship of Brian Mulroney.

Noise pollutes peaceful area

Editor:

I enjoy The Times, especially your frequently excellent editorials and letters to the Editor. I was dismayed, however, to see a cartoon so unworthy of The Times as that ridiculing a noise by-law insofar as barking dogs are concerned. Haliburton is beginning to lose its ambience as a natural setting of tranquility and peace, for Lutterworth is not the only Township in the County that has no by-law against noise as a polluter of an otherwise natural environment. It is irresponsible to continue to avoid this issue. It is distressing to see The Times so flippantly ridicule such a need.

Studio tour was well done

Editor:

I have had the pleasure of being the Tour Guide for the Cardinal Studio Tour from Hart Lodge beginning with the first tour.

On behalf of Cardinal Tours, and Hart Lodge, my sincere thanks to all the Artisans for the hospitality and kindness offered to all 40 of us. To Stan Hill a special thanks for all the time you spent with us during our visit to the Agnes Jamieson Gallery.

This year was no exception. It just keeps getting better. Congratulations to all Artisans, and to everyone involved with the planning of this tour — a job well done.

Thank you.

Memories of summer

...our canine companions surely will is: Aw, bullrashes.

The cockroach is no threat to us. Oh, I admit we humans are cruising for a crackup. You can't abuse a planet and its tenants the way we human landlords have and expect to get away with it forever. There's an eviction notice coming from Mother Nature some day soon. We are going to lose our Number One rating in the Species Supremacy Sweepstakes alright — but it won't be cockroaches that knock us off.

It'll be dogs.

I know. I own one.

Sure, I grant you, he doesn't look like leadership material lying on his back there, in front of the chesterfield with his tongue lolling on the linoleum. His warrior potential is not immediately evident, but don't be fooled.

He's plotting. "Lying doggo" the Aussies call it. And he's not alone. All around the world, even as I type these words, Alsatians, dalmatians, wolfhounds and dachshunds, pit bulls and cockapoos are surreptitiously chewing through their leashes and tunnelling under Humane Society animal shelters. They've already memorized maps of fire hydrants and synchronized signals (one squirt if by land, two if by sea...)

You don't believe me? You want proof? Exhibit A: Doggie Adventure. This is a movie, available at better video stores everywhere, detailing a day in the life of a dog. Viewers visit parks, city streets, a barnyard and a couple of chow bowls. The difference between this and a re-run of Lassie Come Home is that Doggie Adventure is shot from a dog's perspective — which is to say, about a foot and a half off the ground. There's not much dialogue, but there's a lot of ambient sound — water being slurped, dog bones being crunched, hydro poles being sniffed and anointed — that sort of thing.

Doggie Adventure is a film not just about dogs, it's for dogs.

Still unconvinced there's a cur crusade in our future? Allow me to introduce the municipal leader of Sunol, California, a community in the San Francisco Bay area. Mayor Bosco was elected to office last spring.

It's difficult to say exactly what tilted the electorate in Mayor Bosco's favour. Mayor Bosco won't talk about his election strategy at all.

He can't. Talk about it, I mean. Mayor Bosco can only bark. He's a three and a half year old black Labrador.

Today, Sunol, California, tomorrow perhaps a short dog trot up the coast to British Columbia, where history has shown that pretty well anything can be a provincial premier.

Trust me on this — the world is going to the dogs.

School bus safety awareness a must for all drivers

by Susan Grober

School bus operators are hoping to enlighten drivers and parents during School Bus Safety Week on October 15 to 20.

"A lot of people don't realize their children are safer in a school bus than in a car," says Barbara Todd of Todd Buslines in Lutterworth. In fact, according to Transport Canada, children on a school bus are 16 times less likely to be injured in road collisions than in any other vehicle.

Still, area bus drivers feel the general public should be more aware when driving near a school bus. "Many people don't even stop when a school bus has the stop arm out and its lights are flashing," says Todd.

Drivers must come to a complete stop, in both directions, when the school bus's flashing red lights are on and stop arms are extended. But many drivers ignore the law, as accident statistics show.

The greatest number and most serious accidents involving school bussing occur as the child is boarding or leaving the vehicle.

School bus drivers must control a large vehicle, obey all rules of the road, oversee up to 60 active young passengers and be aware of irresponsible drivers.

Todd stresses the importance of education, not only for other drivers, but for the children riding as well. Parents must teach their children to behave while on the bus, to avoid any distraction to the bus drivers.

School bus drivers receive between 20 and 40 hours of specialized training, and are required to pass written exams and in-vehicle training. Those with poor driving or criminal records are excluded, and a yearly medical examination is required.

Every driver must complete certified driver improvement courses, be fully aware of traffic laws and safety procedures and face regular examinations.

Licensed mechanics inspect every school bus at least twice a year. The Ontario Ministry of Transportation also makes regular and random inspections.

School bus construction and equipment standards are controlled by more government regulations than any other vehicle on public roadways.

In Ontario, 700,000 children are transported on 16,000 school busses on any given school day.

Drivers must be aware to stop when a school bus has its lights flashing and stop arm out, says Barbara Todd of Todd Buslines. This week is School Bus Safety Week.

Former Dysart dump to be sold through tender process

by Susan Grober

The former Eagle Lake dump will be sold through Dysart's usual tender process, despite one councillor's plea that this would kill a business deal beneficial to the community.

Mitch Kennedy owns bordering property, and hopes to purchase the 1.95-acre parcel for a business proposal. The property is located in Guilford Township off of County Road 12.

Councillor Brian Watts pressed upon council to waive the tender process and sell the property to Kennedy.

"He needs a commitment right now so he can go ahead this afternoon and fulfill promises," Watts said.

"They're asking for a commitment for today."

Watts said the property would be rezoned to industrial, but couldn't expand on the project any further. "All I can say is it would mean a fair amount to the area."

He asked if there would be a problem in waiving the tender process. "Being that it's an old landfill site, I can't see too many people jumping at it."

Reeve Bill Davis said he couldn't see council changing its policies on the sale of municipal land.

Councillor John Parish called for a quick tender. "If (Kennedy is) confident no one else wants it, at least we can get the tender process done and he can give his commitment that he'll get the tender anyway."

If Kennedy doesn't get the property, "that's just a risk he's taking," added Councillor Murray Fearrey.

Watts was unhappy with council's decision to accept tenders for the land until October 19. "If it's going to take two weeks, he'll lose the deal," he said.

Since the property was formerly used as a landfill site, building permits for residential uses won't be permitted.

Fearrey suggested that the successful bidder sign an agreement absolving the municipality of responsibility if any possible environmental problems arise.

Thousands of dollars lost in leak: Fearrey

Dysart should undertake an investigation to determine why thousands of dollars of excess groundwater is going through Haliburton's treatment plant, says Councillor Murray Fearrey.

"The flow is the same as last year's, so there must be a leak," Fearrey said at last Tuesday's meeting.

He said the flow should have decreased since the closing of Parkside Laundry following last May's flood.

"I think we're talking about thousands of dollars here," he said.

Fearrey noted that he remembered there had previously been a leak at the Stedmans parking lot, and perhaps this could be the problem.

Reeve Bill Davis said the Stedmans lot was investigated years ago, and he didn't think any leakage was found there.

"Anyway, we should do some investigation," said Fearrey. "This has got to be a major leak, and it's going to mean major bucks."

Speed limits to decrease

Drivers on some Dysart roads will have to slow down if council passes a by-law decreasing speed limits.

At last Tuesday's meeting, council considered additions to a by-law decreasing the speed limit from 80 to 50 km per hour.

It was suggested that North Kashagawigamog Road, Mountain Street, Brohm's Drive and Buckhorn Road be added to the by-law.

Council will vote on the by-law at next month's meeting.

Opinion mixed on Ride for Sight

location to one of several different communities. As it turned out, the Ride for Sight committee accepted an invitation to move to Peterborough's Trent University.

On Thursday, Reeve Ray Moore asked Collier if the Ride organizers really intended to return next year, or if Minden was just one possibility on a list of communities.

Collier said the consensus among participants was that they were sorry to leave the Haliburton area and wanted to come back. He said Peterborough's invitation was accepted last year because the township could not confirm the availability of the arena until November.

"We have to start promoting in late November," said Collier. "We didn't feel we wanted to run the risk."

The first presentation from the public was made by Nick Fomenko, representing the Minden Kinsmen Club.

Fomenko, who was also speaking on behalf of the Kinettes, said the two service clubs favoured the Ride's return to the village.

Instead of dwelling on the negative aspects of the event, Fomenko said the community should work to enhance and improve the Ride and make it "bigger and better."

"I only see it getting better if everyone cooperates," he said.

With 5,000 people coming to the village during the Ride for Sight weekend, Fomenko said an increase in police services would be required.

Councillor Mike Maher, a retired OPP officer, asked Fomenko how many police officers he thought would be needed to provide security but Fomenko said he didn't know.

The next presentation came from Lyn Stevens, president of the Haliburton County Chamber of Commerce and owner of the Red Umbrella Inn. She said the Chamber was in favour of the Ride's return to the area given the economic benefits to local businesses. The Minden fairgrounds and arena would be the ideal site for the Ride, said Stevens.

Also representing the Chamber was manager Robin Jarvis. She said, given the poor performance of the tourism industry during the summer and the economic slowdown predicted until at least spring, the Ride would provide a needed boost to area businesses and inject money into the local economy.

Councillor Lewis Stevens asked Jarvis if the Chamber would be willing to take over the municipality's role as host of the Ride for Sight.

Jarvis said the Chamber would serve on a committee formed to organize the Ride. "We'd be more than willing to help," she said. "We have the skills and the manpower."

Minden business owner Jerry Jordan asked Jarvis if the Chamber had polled area businesses to find out who supports the event.

She said the consensus, gathered by word of mouth, was that Chamber members supported the Ride. "There were nothing but good things said about the Ride for Sight," said Jarvis.

Minden resident Mary Ann Wilson addressed council and spoke in favour of Minden hosting the event. As a permanent resident of the village who's not involved in business, Wilson said she derives no direct financial gain from the Ride for Sight.

"But many local businesses would not be able to survive on a year round basis if they had to depend on just local money," said Wilson. She said it's important to attract visitors to the area. "The small inconveniences are outweighed by the worthwhile benefits to my village."

Following Wilson was Gord Monk, owner of a Bobcaygeon Road funeral home. Monk agreed the Ride brings in an influx of money for certain businesses on a short-term basis, but said the extent of the benefit to the community as a whole can be extensively debated.

In his own case, Monk said the Ride is a detriment to his business and he is "virtually required to shut down" on the weekend the Ride is in town.

"Any charity or public function to benefit a community deserves support if it is assisting the less fortunate, but I cannot agree that it provides an excuse for vandalism or infringing on the rights of others by some of the participants."

On a year round basis his funeral home brings many visitors into town who patronize the same local businesses that benefit from the Ride, said Monk.

Monk said he has concerns about the local ability to police the event.

"Because of the event's very nature, the potential is there for volatile situations to arise and there is absolutely no way that we can rapidly access even 50 or 60 police to deal with the numbers involved in the Ride for Sight," he said.

Monk said he is against the use of the fairgrounds for camping during the Ride weekend, a privilege not extended to other events that use the facility. He also objected to municipal funds being spent on the event when there are other worthwhile causes in the community.

If economic benefit is the main reason for holding the Ride for Sight in Minden, Monk suggested that camping could be restricted to private campgrounds. He also said that if a limit was set on the number of participants in Peterborough perhaps Minden should set a limit based on available services and ability to police the event.

The use of private campgrounds instead of the fairgrounds would not preclude the fundraising activities run during the Ride weekend by local service clubs and church groups, said Monk.

"I'm sure that the Ride for Sight, if hosted in a much different form than it presently exists, could be a very successful event and it would not polarize anyone in the business community," said Monk.

"Any charity or public function to benefit a community deserves support if it is assisting the less fortunate, but I cannot agree that it provides an excuse for vandalism or infringing on the rights of others by some of the participants."

"Paying for damages is not the answer, cleaning up the act is."

Deputy-Reeve Bern Berry, who in the past has been one of the principal supporters of the Ride for Sight, presented a list of costs incurred by the municipality as a result of the event.

By adding the cost of paying parks department staff to set up for the weekend and clean up the fairgrounds afterwards, the rental of the portable toilets provided by the township and the cost of the shuttle bus, Berry said the weekend cost Minden taxpayers in excess of $5,000.

Moore said the Ride organizers have been very cooperative with Monk in trying to avoid the problems he experienced and the event provides a "very, very, good return" for the township's investments in terms of the benefits to the overall community.

He estimated that more than $200,000 is spent by Ride participants during the weekend and local service clubs raise money by holding dinners and breakfasts. "All that money goes back into the community," said Moore.

Four years ago Moore said he thought the Ride for Sight was "horrible" but he now strongly supports it. The seniors who live in the apartments adjacent to the fairgrounds are in favour of the event, said Moore.

Monk said he's not opposed to the Ride for Sight he just wants changes made to improve the way the event is organized. "Four years ago, I thought it was fantastic," said Monk.

Collier said part of the problem experienced by Monk during funerals is the fact that Main Street is blocked off during the Golden Helmet demonstration and riders have no where to park when they come to watch the OPP precision motorcycle team. Collier suggested that the demonstration could be held in another, more convenient, location.

Councillor Bob Sisson asked Collier if organizers had considered abolishing the practice of selling beer and liquor on-site, but Collier said that would only encourage the participants to bring their own.

Berry credited the Ride committee for paying to repair damages caused by Ride participants and asked Collier if the committee would post a security bond in advance of the event to ensure the community was covered.

Collier agreed to this proposal.

Given that Collier was looking to rent a piece of private land next to the fairgrounds, Berry asked if the committee feels the fairgrounds are too small for the event.

Because the Ride would not be allowed to use the lower portion of the fairgrounds where the new ball diamond is, Collier said the committee wanted to expand the site. But even if the private property was not available, Collier said he saw no problem with using just the fairgrounds as long as both the arena and curling club could be used.

During the discussion, Jordan attempted to interject comments but was told that only the seven people who had contacted the township office prior to the meeting would be allowed to speak.

Jordan asked that a special meeting be held in order to allow everyone a chance to voice their opinion on the issue, but Moore said the meeting would be conducted as a regular council meeting and only those on the agenda could address the issue.

Moore said if he allowed open debate to take place, the meeting would last until 3 p.m.

The next scheduled speaker to address the meeting was Michael Homestead, owner of The Schnitzel House on Highway 35.

He said financially, the Ride for Sight weekend is very important to his business and said a compromise should be reached to address the problems resulting from the event.

A security bond to cover possible damages would be one solution, said Homestead. "Look at the positive aspects and make the damn thing work."

Councillor Mike Maher said council was looking for compromise and, as elected representatives, had to look at both sides of the argument. Maher asked that members of the audience who were not on the agenda be allowed to speak.

Berry supported Maher's request and said, unless the debate was opened up, he would have no choice but to vote against the Ride's return.

But Moore said he was sticking by his decision to limit the discussion to people on the agenda. He said he would like to allow others to speak but didn't want the meeting to turn into a "back and forth argument."

The last speaker scheduled to speak was Stanhope Deputy-Reeve Ann Barker who is a director on the Chamber of Commerce and a ratepayer in Anson, Hindon and Minden.

Although she does not directly benefit from the Ride for Sight, Barker said the money earned during the weekend circulates through the local economy and provides employment in the area.

She mentioned the summer's slow economy and said the Ride gives economic boost at the start of the tourist season. She also mentioned the benefit derived by local service clubs who donate money to causes like the Jaws of Life campaign.

In closing, Barker offered her assistance in working to organize the Ride for Sight.

After further discussion, council agreed to open the floor to comments from people in the audience.

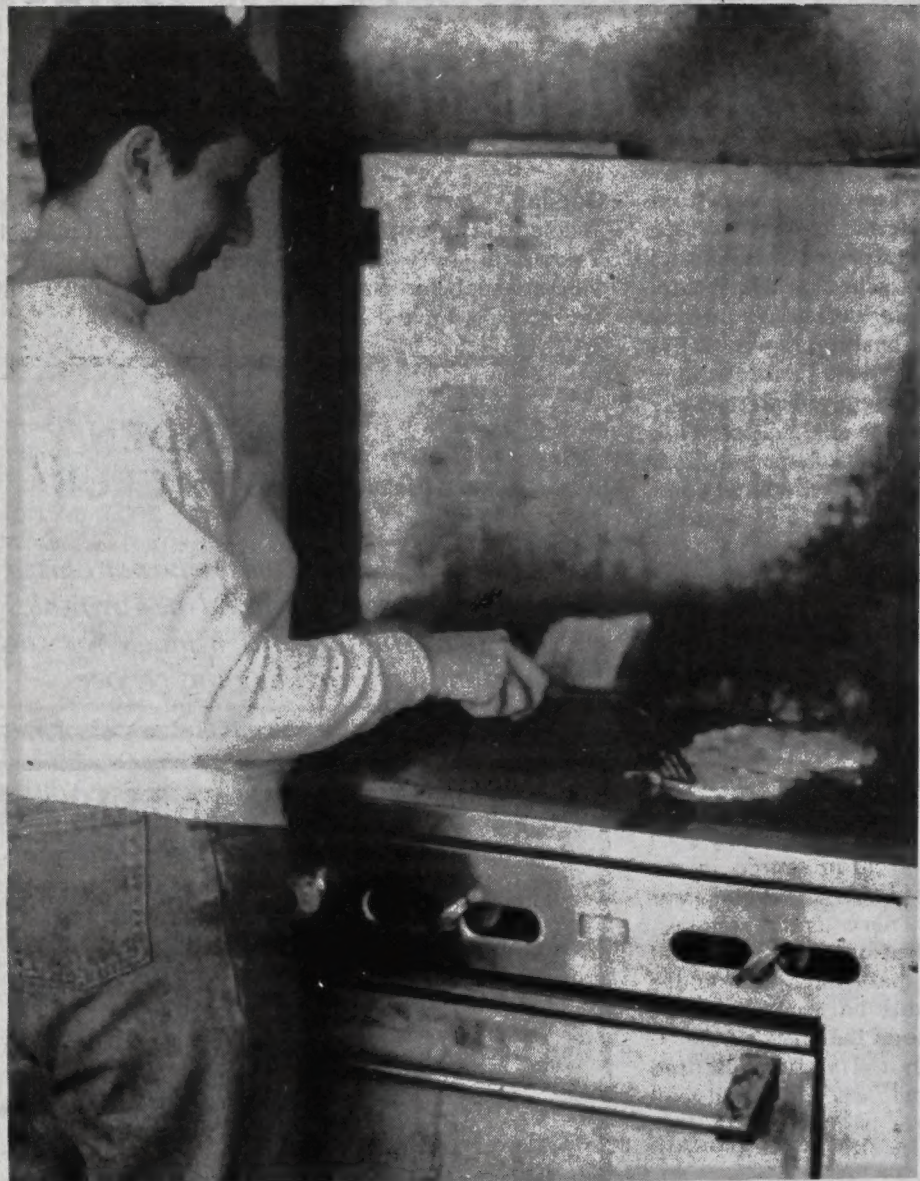

Jordan said as a business owner he does not benefit from the Ride, and in fact his sales decline during the Ride weekend. But because of the importance of the Ride to other businesses, Jordan said he could live with the slow weekend.

Last year council voted unanimously to accept the Ride back to Minden, but Jordan said Collier "got in a huff and walked out."

Senior soccer team beats Weldon 6-1; but Juniors aren't so lucky Bitter cold and high winds played a factor in two soccer games played by Haliburton high school at I.E. Weldon in Lindsay last Wednesday.

The Juniors played first and lost 2-0 against Weldon. "They played pretty well," says coach Walter Tose. "Our guys faced a difficult task what with wind conditions and facing a strong team."

As always, Mike Morrison played a strong game, says Tose. Jason Falvo also played well, "even though it was for a losing cause."

The Seniors did better, winning 6-1. "That's a pretty high score for a soccer game," Tose says.

There was a shaky start as Weldon scored in the first half. "Everybody was a bit nervous at that point."

But Haliburton led 2-1 by half-time, and added additional scores in the second half.

Jan Haedicke scored three goals. Individual goals were scored by Jason Goodall, Darryl Winder, and Jeff Nash, who kicked a powerful shot which hit the cross-bar before entering the net. "It looked really professional," says Tose.

"We're in first place, but won't know if we'll be in the play-offs until we play LCVI next week."

Some Riders were "howling like dogs"

Collier disagreed, saying the doubt about the availability of the arena and curling club prompted the Ride's decision to go to Peterborough.

As someone who lives near the fairgrounds, Jordan said there was toilet paper and human waste left on his property, people "howling like dogs" and motorcycles racing along the edge of his property until 4 a.m.

Jordan said the event was inadequately policed and a curfew of 10 p.m. should be established after which bikes should be shut down.

Like Monk, Jordan said he is not against the event but that the Ride has to clean up its act in order to be accepted. "We have our rights like everyone else."

Verne Graham was the next person to address the meeting and outline his concerns with the Ride for Sight.

Graham said he attended each of the Ride weekends held in Minden and is worried that a "police-free zone" was created at the fairgrounds during the weekend.

In previous years, the Boy Scouts and Cubs had helped in the clean-up after the Ride, but Graham said that practice was stopped when drugs and used syringes were found on the site one year.

"These things have to be addressed," said Graham. He suggested that a security bond in the amount of $1 million be posted to cover the possibility of the loss of the arena if a problem occurred.

Collier said the Ride committee would welcome a police presence on the fairgrounds. In Peterborough, Collier said there were 14 policemen on site, half of them in plainclothes.

But with a local detachment strength of only 26 officers, Berry said there wasn't the manpower to extensively patrol the event.

After meeting in private to discuss the issue, councillors returned to the table and presented a resolution to accept the Ride back to Minden on the condition that certain conditions be met.

The conditions included a $1 million security bond, that no municipal money be spent on the event, a head tax charged by the municipality on every participant and that the Ride committee waives the 15 per cent that is usually donated to the RP Foundation by local service clubs from the money earned during the event.

Berry said he's been involved in, and supported, four previous Rides and would likely support it again if the Ride had been in Minden last summer.

Because the ride left, Berry said he's in a different situation and would not support the Ride's return. Among his concerns were the safety of private property, the lack of police protection and the cost to Minden's taxpayers.

Sisson said he would join Berry in opposing the event. "I can't support a wild weekend on our property," he said.

Maher said he was warned by some local residents that if he voted against the Ride, they would work to see him defeated during the next election. "They assumed I'm going to be running again," he said.

Maher explained the conditions mentioned in the resolution and said with a tough budget expected next year he didn't think the township could afford to subsidize the event.

Councillor Lewis Stevens said he would support the event because of the grim economic forecast. He said the $5,000 spent by the township is a good investment that is returned many times over in economic benefits to the community. "There's no way I can see telling someone, don't send 5,000 people to our area," he said.

Moore also favoured bringing the Ride back and mentioned the support shown by the Chamber and Minden's BIA. He said Minden depends on the service industry for jobs and prosperity, "and if council can't realize this fact, I don't think we're doing our job for this community."

In a recorded vote, Stevens and Moore supported the resolution while Maher, Berry and Sisson voted to defeat it.

Minden has a lot to share

Editor:

I read with interest your fine article "Upper Class" which details the visit of Grade 9 students from Upper Canada College to the Minden community. We can take some pride in the fact that the organizing teachers felt that there were sufficient historical components in our Village to warrant a week of outdoor study by these keen students.

I congratulate the employees of our municipal offices for opening their doors to our guests and assisting them in the implementation of their studies. Our citizens enjoyed meeting the students on the streets and responded to their surveys. The business establishments also cooperated in allowing them to explore our environmental practices.

Verne Graham and John Hulbig, supported by Irene Moore, Wyn Newbery and Henry Weibert gave four half days of their time to present the history of our community to our guests. We are pleased that they were impressed by our museum which depends on community volunteers for its existence.

Our community can be justly proud of its citizens who welcome and support visitors. Everyone benefits from such mutual cooperation.

Province responds to CHACE funding plea

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Minden's CHACE resource centre has received the provincial funding needed to hire an additional staff member.

Recently CHACE had to reduce the centre's hours of operation because the two staff members could not meet client demand for services.

Last week CHACE administrator Cheryl Cathcart said the agency received word from the Ministry of Community and Social Services that funding will be provided to allow the hiring of additional part-time staff members.

Cathcart said the funding will be available until the end of the fiscal year in March at which time the position will have to be negotiated as part of the centre's annual budget.

The position is for a child care information coordinator who will be responsible for handling the needs of caregivers in the community, said Cathcart.

Caregivers, those who look after other people's children, comprise 11 per cent of the adult users of the Minden resource centre. This group includes babysitters and grandparents.

The additional staff member will work three days a week and will allow the centre to resume regular hours of operation, from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., five days a week.

Cathcart says she hopes to have the position filled by the end of October.

Independant caregivers provide 80 per cent of child care needs in rural Ontario, says Cathcart, and the decision to fund the additional position is part of a provincial effort to direct more resources to improve the quality of care provided by these people.

The Minden centre handles requests about crafts and programming of child activities from caregivers. These requests will now be handled by the child care information coordinator.

CHACE is continuing the search for new facilities for the Minden resource centre. The present Main Street location is no longer big enough to handle the demand for the centre's services.

The Ministry has told the agency to look at purchasing a new facility so if, and when, funding becomes available CHACE will be ready.

Family thanks Minden OPP

The following is a letter of thanks to the officers of Minden's OPP detachment from a Trenton family.

To the Minden OPP Detachment:

Sometimes, we forget the reasons why we have policemen.

Yes they enforce the law and keep the peace. They are also the ones we turn to when we need help.

For example: directions, protecting our properties and settling disputes in the community.

I for one am very grateful, in particular to the OPP of Minden, Ontario.

They are the ones who put so much effort and energy searching for my son

Ken, who had not returned home from hunting.

Those policemen, some of which have children of their own, understood what my wife and I were going through. I'm sure they had other duties, but they put them aside to help in the search for my son Ken.

I would like to thank the officers involved in the search and for your terrific support in finding Ken.

A special thanks to Officers Bob Wood, Dave McMartin, Ken Wesley and also the pilot of the helicopter.

Dysart demands Official Plan committee representation

by Susan Grober

Some Dysart councillors are angry that the municipality isn't represented on an ad hoc committee for a county-wide Official Plan.

"If you don't get on there, we should oppose the county's Official Plan," Councillor Murray Fearrey told Reeve Bill Davis during last Tuesday's council meeting. "You'd think the county's largest municipality would be represented on that committee."

Councillor John Parish agreed. "If we can't be represented on it, then there's something wrong," he said.

Davis explained that a mix-up must have occurred when the committee was formed because it was at the same time Fearrey resigned as reeve in January.

"That's still no excuse," said Councillor Dorothy Baker.

The county's Chief Administrative Officer, Garry McKnight, later told The Times he agrees with Davis that Fearrey's resignation caused some confusion.

"I'm pretty certain that's what happened. We were caught in between a rock and a hard place when Murray Fearrey stepped down. We didn't know what (Dysart) was doing. We didn't know whether they would hold an election, or what," said

McKnight.

"The fact that there are only four members plus the warden, while there are usually five members, shows that something was wrong," he said.

The committee is comprised of Cardiff Reeve Maurice Bradley, Minden Reeve Ray Moore, Lutterworth Reeve Carol Puffer, Stanhope Reeve Harry Davis, and Warden Don Shortreed. Dysart, Minden and Cardiff are the county's only municipalities with an Official Plan.

In an attempt to quell his fellow councillors' anxieties, Reeve Davis said he has already brought the matter up with county council. "Each municipality with an Official Plan should be represented," he said.

McKnight said the committee will possibly be changed at the beginning of next year. "We'll probably take a look at it then... As the largest municipality, I think Dysart should be represented."

Basically, the ad hoc committee was formed to hire a planner. County planner Mark Stagg reports to this committee, which then reports to council. McKnight said the committee has only met once since it was formed.

Haliburton County Children's Concert Series

Charlotte Diamond
Sat. November 17, 1990 - 2 p.m.

10 carrot diamond

Juno award winner CHARLOTTE DIAMOND opens our series with her special blend of good music and good fun. Tunes and words that appeal to all kids, from pre-schoolers on up to parents, are the taking-off point for an afternoon of lively rhythm, and smiling faces.

Sun. February 10, 1991 - 2 p.m. Ontario Ballet Theatre

The ONTARIO BALLET THEATRE has drawn raves from children's audiences all across Ontario, and their programme is an ideal introduction to the world of ballet. The fantastical tale of The Magic Flute provides the plot for this one-hour ballet, which features an original score and colourful costumes and sets.

Kaleidoscope Theatre Sun. April 21, 1991 - 2 p.m.

Folk tales and fables, nursery rhymes and classics, all the story time favourites come to life with an infectious blend of narrative skill, music and improvisation provided by one of Canada's leading theatre ensembles. KALEIDOSCOPE THEATRE makes it work with versatility.

A non-profit organization, run by volunteers and co-sponsored by the ONTARIO ARTS COUNCIL, performances are directed at the enjoyment of children ages 4 - 10 years and take place at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

NOW MORE THAN EVER!

When recession hits and business goes flat, the temptation is to cut costs, especially your company's investment in such intangibles as advertising. But studies show cutting back on advertising is a mistake.

During the 1981-82 recession, companies that didn't reduce their advertising had a much greater sales growth during and after the recession than firms that cut back.

So says a study by McGraw-Hill of New York, which compared the sales performance of 600 companies between 1980 and 1985.

Firms that maintained or increased levels of advertising during the last recession saw an average sales increase over the five years of 275%. But companies that reduced their advertising - or stopped it altogether - saw their sales increase just 19% during that time.

Now, more than ever, it is important that we learn the lessons of the past. Your advertising budget may be the most important key to your firm's prosperity - maybe even its survival!

Give yourself all the help you can! Invest in advertising!

Future of Canada's forests a contentious issue

Emerging from debates and discussions about the environment is an understanding that nature is incalculably complex and that its diversity is what sustains the abundance and productivity of all life on earth.

This insight puts us in our place — in spite of our intelligence, we are still dependent on a web of life of which we remain profoundly ignorant.

No issue has been more contentious than the future of Canada's great forests. Environmentalists argue that current large-scale forestry practices — extensive roads, heavy equipment, huge clearcuts, slash burning, pesticides and herbicide use, a single-age and single-species tree planting, and so on, are not sustainable or responsible forest management.

Most forestry professors and professional foresters vehemently counter that such critics don't know what they are talking about.

Nevertheless, there are a few articulate and persuasive foresters, like Oregon's Chris Maser (author of The Redesigning Forest, Stoddart Press), who believe forestry practices must be radically changed. Merv Wilkinson is another.

Merv's thoughts on forests are recorded by Ruth Loomis in Wildwood: A Forest for the Future (Reflections, Gabriola Island). This little book is studded with nuggets of common sense and wisdom that expose how shortsighted current large scale forest practices are.

Wildwood is Wilkinson's 136-acre lot on Vancouver Island which he has owned since 1939. In the 41 years of his tenure, he has logged it nine times for a third of his income (it took 20 per cent of his working time).

In 1939, it was estimated that Wildwood contained about 1.5 million board-feet of useable timber. By 1992, another million and a half board-feet will have grown in the same forest. In the same interval, Wilkinson has logged 1,378,292 board-feet. In other words, even though the equivalent of almost the entire original forest has been cut over four decades, there is still as much wood as there ever was! Equally important is that the forest ecosystem has remained intact throughout the time.

Reflections

by David Suzuki

Wilkinson calculates that only 500 to 600 acres cared for like Wildwood, would keep two people fully employed as well as a crew and trucker at falling time and the forest would never disappear! Wilkinson understands "the essential ingredient in effective woodlot management is time — a long-term perspective and a day-to-day participation in a living landscape that evolves over decades and even centuries."

His operating rule is simple: "Work with nature!"

Invariably 'nature knows best' and my instinct says nature's ways are vastly superior to human ways."

So he logs selectively, minimizes road construction and always works within the constraints imposed by trees, soils and topography themselves. Chemicals were never used in Wildwood, yet a spruce budworm outbreak in 1939 has never recurred and the incidence of disease such as "conk" and "root rot" has declined.

Wilkinson's ideas also make economic sense. "I never cut over the annual growth rate ... consider the forest the 'bank account', the annual growth the 'interest'. The 'interest' is converted into the products which are removed from the forest, but the 'account' is left standing. I have now learned to leave five per cent of my 'interest' or annual growth, to decay and rot on the forest floor, a reinvestment in the soil, a reinvestment for the future.

"... In British Columbia, the big companies have been allowed to over-cut, abandoning any idea of

Carved in history

Jack Barnhart examines the log water pipe he unearthed with a backhoe while digging in front of the Minden township garage. According to Stan Hill of the Minden County Town Museum Committee, the log pipe was part of a system which connected a spring on Anson Hill to a creamery across Bobcaygeon Road from where Archie Stouffer Elementary School is now located.

Minden roads crew makes an exciting historic find

by Stan Hill

Road Superintendent Clayton Cameron recently brought to the attention of Stan Hill, chairman of the Minden County Town Museum, an exciting find by members of his crew.

His men were installing a catch basin in front of the works department at Anson Hill when they came across sections of wooden water pipe, one of which was twelve feet long. The pipes had a smoothly drilled hole approx. three inches in diameter through the centre of the seven inch diameter log. One end of the log was widened so that the snout of the adjoining log rested snugly within it.

The log water pipes were used to bring water from an adjacent spring down to the cheese factory which was located across from Archie Stouffer School.

Ross Carver, previous administrator of Haliburton Museum felt that the wooden pipes may have been bored in the foundry at Lindsay and caged to Minden.

Verne Graham, local historian, felt that a local artisan, possibly a Mr. McIntosh was capable of boring these logs. Verne indicated that wooden water pipes were used on the Walker farm.

The Conservation Department of Sir Sandford Fleming College has been contacted to find out the best way to preserve the log. If you have any suggestions re. preservation or further information about the wooden water pipes please contact Stan Hill.

The log pipes are excellent specimens and will be displayed in the new driving shed of the Minden Museum next spring. In the meantime Clayton has offered to store the logs for us. We appreciate the interest of our Works Department in helping to preserve Minden's history.

Delicious lunch follows fun-filled fashion show

Senior League

by Winnifred Barnum

Since I was down to Peterborough for a week, part of our news items are not entered in my column. September 27, the ladies of the Anglican Church Women of Kinmount brought the lunch for the tea party and the Residents thank them all very much.

The bingo was held in the auditorium at 7:00 p.m. I will name the ladies next week. Those who played thank them for an enjoyable evening.

Friday afternoon was Happy Hour with Bill Payne, Don Burch and Eldon Deacon providing the entertainment. We thank them sincerely.

I came home from Peterborough Saturday evening. Sunday, Terry and Norma came down and we went for a drive and had dinner at Cozy Corner in Halibur-ton.

Rev. Burgess conducted the Chapel Service Sunday evening. Alice was unable to be present so we had no organ music. Thank you Rev. Burgess doubly.

Monday Jack and Ruth Foster were here for a sing-a-long. The music was delightful and certainly brightened up a lonely Holiday. There are few songs they can't sing, many thanks Ruth and Jack.

Congratulations to Lucy Burgess who had a birthday October 6, Marjory McIntosh October 6, Ethel Shaw October 7, also Lula Ferrill on October 9. Birthday wishes from us all.

Monday evening Tom and Dori McAllister showed two films for us. The first one was "Scotland" and the second "Country Coyote goes to Hollywood". Tom and Dori volunteered to show the movies and we thank them greatly.

When Ruth and Jack Foster were here Lynn Shirley brought in a beautiful platter of mixed fruit for our enjoyment.

One day last week Karl Samuelson dropped in for a visit. I was sorry I was away.

Tuesday morning Pastor James Fast conducted the Chapel Service and accompanied the hymns with his guitar. Thank you Pastor Fast.

After lunch on Tuesday, Doris took us for an outing on the bus. We went up the North Road to Vankoughnet Road and almost to the town and came back to Carnarvon and down Highway 35 home. We stopped at Kawartha Dairy for ice cream. It was cloudy but the leaves were beautiful.

Mary Oliver's daughter is home from the hospital after major operations. Hope she is completely well soon.

Wednesday evening Earl

Cooper and Kathy Owen were here and gave us a lovely musical evening and we thank them very much.

The following was intended for last week's newspaper.

Wednesday evening the Gospel Church held a meeting in the Auditorium with a game, a fashion show, a solo and sermon followed by a delicious lunch. I be-

Our forests must be maintained sustaining. The Department of Forestry claims that in 1985 the forests grew 74 million board-feet during the year. The cut during that year was 90 million... Is there any worse 'deficit financing' than that?"

To Wilkinson, a forest is far more than trees. It "includes the soil, with all its interdependent bugs, fungi, burrowing mammals, groundcovers and undergrowth, the trees themselves, the birds and animals living in or moving through it, the natural water systems and the air. The basic cornerstones of forestry are soil, water, air and sunlight. One cannot be separated from the other."

Large-scale logging and replanting are focused on the trees as if they're all there is. But Wilkinson knows the forest "is a balanced entity, so that if you destroy that balance, you're going to be in trouble."

Wildwood is proof that it is possible to derive a living from a small forest while maintaining it as a diverse ecosystem.

In contrast with the "cornrow, industrial-agricultural style of tree farming, "Wilkinson's lot has been both profitable and aesthetically impact.

"There are still abundant populations of native wildlife, eagles, pileated woodpeckers, owls, deer, and a multitude of other creatures in their own habitat. The traditional methods of forestry have been primarily interested in re-establishing trees but not the complex ecosystem of a forest.

Wilkinson warns: "So far, management of our forests has been in the hands of those who do not recognize the forest as an ecosystem of all ages and species which are independent... Boardroom foresters cut for the product without respect for the life of the forest."

The battlelines over the future of Canada's forests revolve around those differences in perspective. It's time the government paid more attention to people like Merv Wilkinson.

Around the County Town

by Jeanne Sears (call 286-1538)

Islay, Paul & Jason Warburton and Carol Leaman of Newmarket visited me for a few minutes on the holiday weekend.

Thanksgiving started out at South Lake Trailer Park with our annual pot luck dinner. Those attending were Roy & Shirley Smith, Reg & Carolynn Leaman, Harold & Gerry Andrews, Al & Yvonne Box & family, LeRoy & Mary Webster, Brian & Barb Taylor, Tom Boucher, Les & Ella Virag, Gord & Linda Wallace, Joe & Lois Devreeze, Anne Smith, Ed & Debbie Luke & family, Dianne & Scott Mabee, Jerry & Shiela Arbley, Henry & Betty Bruno, John & Kathy Gaskin, Ron & Karen Harrison, Rick & Doreen Antonick, Maurice & Sandy Fantauzzi, Gary & Sharon Code, Ken & Norma Thompson, Almer & Marilyn Jennings, Dave & Coleen Tooth, Bob & Bev Marshman, Larry & Shelley Warner, Ken & Bev Vivian, Grandma, Mike & Ralph.

There was food galore and nicely set up and organized thanks to Mary Webster.

The campers presented Bev & Ken (the owners) with a Westminster chiming clock and cash to celebrate their 1st wedding anniversary.

Following this was the dance attended by quite a few of the campers. Spot dance winners were: Gary & Sharon Code & LeRoy and Mary won the first one donated by Jerry Arkley which was 2 loonies.

The rest of the winners were Karen & Ron, Barb Taylor and Gord Wallace, Bev Marshman dove for quarters and finally John Gaskin won for the hole in the sock (which he made himself).

A good time was had by all. Ken & Bev did a great job as disc jockies. Maybe we can have more dances with them as emcees next year.

Minden Girl Guides will be collecting for Unicef on Hallowe'en night. Please support this worthwhile cause and put some of your silver aside in preparation.

Sheri Cruickshank, Crystal Oatman brought David Lacey for a visit and the Jim Simpsons. Other guests were Carol, Jamie and Stephanie Jones of Toronto and Jean Lacey. Later all enjoyed the wedding dance of Arnie and Ed Dystra at Club 35.

Elaine and Roy Eveleigh left to spend Thanksgiving with their daughter, son-in-law and grandchildren in Orangeville.

There was a birthday cake for tenants of "The Terrace" at their Thanksgiving Party for the following - John McNeil, Oct. 7, Doug Pritchard, Loyne Cox, Oct. 20, Frank Dunsford, Oct. 21 and John Hobbs, Oct. 23, good wishes to all.

Discovery Day for Women, Saturday, October 27, 1990 - St. George's Anglican Church, Haliburton. A ministry by word and music of Pioneer Women's Ministry. For information call Kay Morrison 754-2464, Lynne Johnston 457-1965 or Ruth Gorrie 286-2668.

Garnet Moore of Bramalea enjoyed a weekend with his mother Irene Moore and also visiting his father at Hyland Crest.

Beulah Hewitt was away visiting with son Moyer and family at Tottenham; thanks again, Jean, for the ride.

Teresa and Al Clement and boys from Scarborough were weekend guests with her parents Pearl and Arnold Cowen and Harold.

ASES Home and School Association to meet soon

All good wishes to Marjorie Coulter and Mary McKelvey Sr. who are on the sick list.

Guests on Thanksgiving Sunday with the Earl Birds were Irene Moore, Garnet Moore, Lloyd and Jo Brownridge of Scarborough, Mike Bird of Toronto, Stephen Brydson of Toronto and Helen, Al and Leslie Brydson of Bracebridge.

Elva Deacon was pleased at having her sister, Ruth MacEachern of Woodville with her last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Cox of California flew into Lindsay Airport and came up to visit for a few days with his parents Evelyn and Loyne Cox and other relatives.

Reminder to members of Minden W.I. the October 15th meeting is at Staunworth Terrace at 2 with all ladies welcome.

Sincere sympathy goes to the families and friends of Beatrice Hamilton, William Hodgson, Merle Cox, Vaneita Pickens, Gladys Ridgewell, and Glen Austen, who passed away recently.

Mary Cox and Beatrice Little attended the North Hastings Graduation on October 5th for their granddaughter Jacqueline Cox.

Dorothy McElwain visited at Lindsay with Rick and Debbie McElwain and boys. Then some of her family came home for Thanksgiving dinner at her home.

Tom and Gail Rowan and girls, Grace and Bud Dart, Audrey and Bob Vick were with Larry and Karen and family at their cottage at Haliburton Lake for Thanksgiving dinner on Sunday.

Clarence and Carol Precoor of Whitby and Alice and Rosalie McLeod of Brooklin were at their summer homes for the holiday weekend.

Many tenants of 'The Terrace' enjoyed their Thanksgiving Dinner on October 5th and a social time followed with games of euchre; the lounge was nicely decorated with seasonal items.

The winners of the Galway Cavendish Fire Department beef draw were: 1st - side of beef - M.W. Kirkness of Scarborough; 2nd - side of pork - Angela Franzen of Kinmount; 3rd - 25 lb. turkey - Toby Harten of Kinmount.

Legion Euchre - Oct. 4
Most lone hands - ladies - Esther Lee; men - John James; high man - Joe Lumsden; lady - Helen MacKenzie; 2nd high lady - Jean Hewitt; man - Charlie Taylor; others - man - Frank Sargent; lady - Elinor Pye.
Draws - Marion Irwin, George Winkley, Helen MacKenzie, Tod Edgson, Jean Hewitt, Norm Lee.
Legion Cribbage - Oct. 5
Highs - Lil Martin, Verna McDonald; 2nd highs - Dave McAdam, Gladys Wruth; draws - Lorna Bridgman, Willard Bridgman.

Nell Miscio, son Ken, and family members travelled to Nottawasaga Inn, in Alliston on the weekend, to attend a beautiful wedding ceremony of her granddaughter, Sherri Walker to Stan Conyers of Bramalea.

Archie Stouffer Home and School Association

General Meeting and Information Night, Wednesday, October 24, 1990, 7:30 p.m. in the main school library. Please be sure to come and bring other concerned parents. Refreshments will be served.

October 3rd saw the end of the Seniors Shuffleboard Season. All members met for a delicious pot luck luncheon. Mr. Paul McKenzie, the Ontario Rep from

P. Sands brought a video on the finer points of shuffling — we should all be experts if we follow his advice.

The winners of the singles games were: 1st: Jack Chilton, Ruth Flatt; 2nd: Harry Cowen, Eleanor Young; 3rd: Dalton Flatt, Eleanor Smith; 4th: Pat Clarke, Lil Martin; 5th: John McMahon, Lillian Stevenson.
Doubles winners were:

1st: Marion Ingram, Norma Briggs; 2nd: Bill Ingram, Irene Fuhr; 3rd: Jack Chilton, Roland Sedgwick; 4th: John McMahon, Eleanor Young; 5th: Hilda Harrison, Lillian Stevenson.

A presentation was made to Marion and Bill Ingram and Jack Chilton for all the work they did for the club and also Ross and Marion Farr were thanked for the making up of all the schedules.

Chairs explored at Rails' End

Chairs have always held a particular fascination for Doreen Wilson, in that they all seem to have auras which are born from the lingering energy of the many people who have sat in them. For Doreen, chairs hold life and history and possibly even secrets. This enchantment has led Doreen to explore.

Chairs is an exhibition about ideas and about our interaction with surroundings. Through Doreen's interpretation of chairs and their relationship to her and others, she has created an exhibition of paintings and sculpture which is all at once serious, humorous, whimsical, delightful, political, nostalgic, shocking and stimulating.

Doreen will be in attendance at the Gallery periodically throughout this exhibition to engage in conversation which will continue the exploration, invention and discovery process of chairs, and the exhibition Chairs. Please feel welcomed to join her.

An Artist's Reception will be held on October 20 (Saturday), between 1 p.m. and 4 p.m. The public is warmly welcomed to attend.

Further information about this exhibition may be obtained from the office of the Rails' End Gallery (telephone 705-457-2330).

Drug/Alcohol counsellor appointed at John Howard Society

The Board of Directors of the Victoria/Haliburton branch of the John Howard Society is pleased to announce the appointment of Carmen Rudler as Assessment Counsellor of the Drug/Alcohol Program, effective October 1.

The Drug/Alcohol Program has recently been funded by the Ontario Ministry of Correctional Services through the Peterborough area office. It has a mandate of providing assessment, referral, one on one counselling and support group treatment and education to Ministry of Correctional Services clients who have drug and alcohol concerns.

Rudler brings with her experience in addictions work from Four Counties Addiction Services in Peterborough and the Addiction Research Foundation. She was also involved with both lifestyle and wellness counselling in previous employment and through various addictions courses has developed specialized expertise in the addictions field.

Branch Executive-Director, Paula Osmok, stated that while this program will certainly not be able to lieve there was over one hundred and six people present.

Thursday was our usual Thursday Tea Party, and as this was our birthday party the ladies from the Kinmount Anglican Church provided a delicious lunch and a birthday cake for the September birthdays. They were September 9 - Isabella Eastman, September 10 - Gladys Kirkpatrick, September 12 - Nancy Carefoot, September 15 - Annie Jones, September 20 - Ann Collison, September 22 - Cora Upton, September 23 - Maron Rose, September 26 - Mary Oliver and September 11 - Bill Moore, September 14 - Garnet Ash. They were all seated at the nicely decorated head table. The ladies who served the lunch were Margaret Kylie, Joyce Hills, Jean Hyames, Dorothy Anderson, Gladys Anderson, Audrey Silvers, Betty Hardman, Shirley Demuth, Mary Hartin Sr.

and Marion Scott.

A Century Club has been formed here at Hyland Crest. Since two of our three centurians had birthdays in September the Centurian Club had the three ladies combined with our regular tea party. The centurian ladies are Mrs. Lillian Curry, 102 years, December 10, Mrs. Isabella Eastman, 101 years, September 9, and Mrs. Mary Oliver, 101 years, September 26. The dietary made a birthday cake and the three ladies had their pictures taken by The Times paper of Minden.

The Residents Council had a turkey draw today also and the winners were Ron Smith, ticket number 46, and Jean Taylor, ticket number 19.

Thursday evening Margaret Prentice and Sharon Crowe called bingo. There were eight in attendance and we thank them very much.

Friday morning at 9:30 Doris took the bus of residents to the museum.

Trade is our country's bread and butter

Why do we have such a high standard of living? How can we afford national health insurance, unemployment insurance and old age pensions?

In one word — trade. When you cash your cheque this week, consider these facts:

Three million Canadian jobs depend on trade.

Exports generate over $5,000 for every man, woman and child in this country each year.

International trade accounts for one-third of all

Report from Ottawa

With Bill Scott, MP

that we produce.

Let's face it. Trade is our bread and butter. That's why the mandate of External Affairs and International Trade Canada (EAITC) is to support Canadian exporters, both small and large, through national campaigns such as Canada International Trade Month (CITM).

CITM is part of the federal government's Going Global initiative, a five-year $93.6 million package of trade initiatives aimed at boosting Canada's economic ties with the three world markets of greatest importance to Canada now and in the future — the United States, the European Community and the Asia-Pacific Rim.

Through CITM seminars, workshops and other activities in October, EAITC will spread the word on how businesses can benefit from the any trade development programs and services in place to help exporters increase Canada's share of these expanding world markets.

Canada International Trade Month is all about recognizing how important trade is to our well-being and saluting the people who strive to make Canada an important player in the global marketplace.

Mulroney comprises our trust by stacking Senate

The following is a letter to Prime Minister Brian Mulroney from Dorset resident Linda Kernohan.

Dear Mr. Mulroney:

I am writing with regard to your recent, unprecedented decision in the stacking of the Senate.

In the last election you asked for, and were given, the support and trust of Canadians, nation wide. You hold the highest position of honour and integrity that can be bestowed upon any Canadian and it is to be expected that on behalf of our great nation and its people, you would be committed to uphold these ideals. Instead, you continue to abuse this sacred trust given to you, regardless of the wishes of your electorate.

Your decision to stack the Senate with the "Party Faithful", in order that you would have your own way in the passage of the G.S.T. is the most underhanded, despicable, desperate political manoeuvre in Canadian history — but wait — there is more!! You say this is the "democratic" way; that you "had" to do it for "The Integrity of the Country". Come on Brian; how stupid do you think the Canadian people are? GIVE US A BREAK!!! I cannot believe your arrogance or the audacity you have displayed throughout this controversy. Even when you try to convince not only the average, ordinary citizen, but both small and big business and the banking institution as well that this is something you HAVE to do for OUR own good. I've been waiting for your nose to grow so much that you trip over it, or for the sky to open up and for you to be struck down by a bolt of lightning just as the earth beneath you opens up to encompass you. However, this has not yet happened and still you insist the G.S.T. is right, the stacking of the Senate is honourable and necessary and, after all this IS what we want and — oh yes — we mustn't forget — this is the democratic way. Sounds more like dictatorship to me —.

Don't you think your energy could be better spent developing alternative ways to pay off our deficit? Perhaps refraining from buying any more million dollar paintings that only a select few can enjoy or appreciate, or perhaps you might not be quite so generous in the amounts of our hard earned tax dollars that you so freely give to other countries. After all, we do have a few problems right in our own back yard (i.e. rising welfare costs, outrageous gas, food and clothing prices, hungry children, the fact that 70% of our hard earned wages go to taxes, etc. etc). Of course there is always MY personal favourite. How about if every Federal and Provincial politician dug into their own pockets for a change — say to the tune of giving up 10% of "THEIR" wages and putting it strictly toward the deficit. At the very least maybe you could give up a few of your "fringe benefits". Maybe not quite so many chauffeur driven limousines or not quite such luxurious hotel suites. How about politicians' carrying a little more of the tax burden by paying a fairer share? I can't visualize this ever happening though. It might cramp your lifestyle just an itty bit too much. Much less painful to ask your passive Canadian people to dig a l-i-t-t-l-e deeper into their pockets. Yes?

Why don't you do us all a favour Brian and call an election so that the people can once again REALLY have their say? I can guarantee we won't make the same mistake twice!! Of course we all know that won't happen because that would be the honourable thing to do wouldn't it and we couldn't have something like that happen among our trusting, honest, illustrious politicians now could we? After all, a virus like that could be highly contagious! HEAVEN FORBID!!!

With utter contempt and outrage,

Linda Kernohan,
Dorset, Ontario.

Many turn to Sears first

Editor:

I am glad to see Jeanne Sears (my mother) is back writing for "Around the Town".

She has always wrote a well informed column and I know a lot of people turn to that column to read first. I, or should I say we, hope she will continue to write for many many years.

Carolyn Leaman,

NEVER AGAIN!

a War Amps video series

"In a war, everyone suffers... we must never let it happen again."

The War Amps believes it has a responsibility to warn younger generations about the true horrors of war. Who better to recount the battles as they really happened than the veterans who experienced war first-hand? The NEVER AGAIN! videos provide historical accounts of Canada's participation in the First and Second World Wars and Korea.

Guides learn through exchange

This past August, 13 enthusiastic Pathfinders, Rangers and four Guiders (leaders) from the Woodland Division of Girl Guides of Canada, including a number from Minden and Haliburton, participated in the second stage of an exchange program with Girl Scouts from Pennsylvania, U.S.A. This sharing experience offered the girls an opportunity to learn about the neighbouring countries, and visit a number of United States cities, including Philadelphia, New York City and Washington, D.C. This joint exchange was initiated over 15 years ago by the Freedom Valley Girl Scout Council of Pennsylvania and the Girl Guide Woodland Division (encompassing an area bordered on the south by Pontypool and Haliburton County to the north). Alternating annual visits, the participants are billeted by host families for one week and are treated to excursions to places of interest, visits to Girl Scout/Girl Guide head offices and sharing social activities. During August 1989 the U.S. and Canadian girls spent a week touring Niagara Falls, Toronto and various local places including ding the Whetung Native Centre. Great friendships developed and, although it was difficult to say goodbye, everyone shared the excitement of meeting again last August in Pennsylvania. Among those attending from this area were: Mrs. Nancy Stinson of Haliburton; Meaghan Obee of Minden; Shannon Stinson of Haliburton and others from communities south of here. This year's trip included visits to the Lincoln Memorial, Mount Vernon, The Smithsonian Institute, and the Vietnam Memorial in Washington, D.C.; an Amish community, Valley Forge Park and Philadelphia in Pennsylvania; the Hard Rock Cafe, Rockefeller Centre, the United Nations, Fifth Avenue and the Empire State Building in New York. And of course, there was lots of time shopping along the way.

US trip is a treat for Guides

According to a spokeswoman for the Woodland Division, "Many of the girls and leaders will continue to keep in touch with their friends in Pennsylvania and it is quite likely some will continue to visit," Alice Dana said. "This exchange program, as well as other Guiding programs, promote lasting friendships, the sharing of world Guiding heritage and the opportunity to experience new challenges and learning situations."

Acid rain report

The following report on precipitation events was recorded at the Ministry of Environment acid rain testing station in Dorset and compiled by Environment Canada.

This report covers the period of September 30 to October 6.

September 30, 9 mm rain, 4.6 pH, from northwestern Quebec.

October 1, 13 mm rain, 4.7 pH, from southern Ontario and Lake Huron.

October 3, 13 mm rain, 4.0 pH, from western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky.

October 4, 13 mm rain, 4.9 pH, from Minnesota, Wisconsin, and northern Michigan.

Environmental damage is usually observed in sensitive areas regularly receiving precipitation with pH less than 4.7. Readings of 4.0 pH or less are considered dangerous. The lower the reading, the more acidic the precipitation.

Heating in the Winter. Air Conditioning in the Summer. It's all there, right under our Feet.

If you want to reduce your electric heating bill, look down at your feet. Now look a few feet further. Look at the earth itself. It could be your next source of heating and air conditioning.

Ground source heat pumps are designed to draw heat from the earth and pump it into your home. In the summer, the ground source heat pump reverses its operation. It extracts heat and humidity from your home and pumps it into the earth. The excess heat can also be used to heat domestic hot water or swimming pools and hot tubs.

This is truly the cleanest most efficient way to heat and air condition your home. And while ground source heat pumps cost more than traditional furnaces and air conditioners they soon pay for themselves with savings. That's why today's progressive home builders and renovators are specifying them for their clients.

Call us for more information about ground source heat pumps. You'll see that one of the most advanced technologies in heating and cooling is as old as the earth itself.

Hi Kids!
Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters.

Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off the list.
It's as easy as that. Have fun!

IN MEMORIAM

CATAFORD, LISA ANN - In loving memory of our dear sister who passed away October 16, 1988.

Our love for each other will last forever.

Forever will be missed by your brothers Ian and Cameron.

CATAFORD, LISA ANN - In loving memory of our dear granddaughter who passed away October 16, 1988.

A butterfly lights beside us like a sunbeam,
And for a brief moment her glory and beauty belong to our world,
But then she flies on again and though we wished she could have stayed
We feel so lucky to have shared her for a very little while.

Forever will be missed by Nana & Poppa, Uncle Con, Auntie Sandy, cousins Kim, Susan, Todd & Sean.

IN MEMORIAM

GREY, ROBERT - In loving memory of our dear brother who passed away October 16, 1989.

This month comes with deep regret,
It brings back the day, we will never forget,
No farewells were spoken,
No time to say good bye,
You were gone before we knew it,
And we're left to wonder why.

Lovingly remembered by your sisters Nan, Irene & Lot & families.

AT REST

HAMILTON, BEA - peacefully at Minden Hospital on Wednesday, October 10, 1990 in her 78th year. Beloved wife of Leonard Hamilton of Minden, dear mother of Frances Peel of Chilliwick, B.C., James of Minden, Bradley (Pud) of Dunsford, and Gloria Jean (Mickey) Anderson of Minden, and loving mother-in-law of Robert Peel, Linda Hamilton, Iola Hamilton and Raymond Anderson. Dear grandmother of 15 grandchildren and 8 great-grandchildren. Loving sister of Marjorie Cowan, Bertha Hughes, Bessie Godin, Lenore Prentice, and predeceased by many other brothers and sisters, and granddaughter Diana Peel. Rested at the Gordon A. Monk Funeral Home, Minden, on Thursday, October 11, 1990. Funeral service was held in the Chapel on Friday, October 12, 1990. Interment at Minden Cemetery.
